Engineering College of Technology Website Privacy Statement

The Engineering College of Technology (ECT) acknowledges and respects your privacy. When you contact us or purchase any of our products or services, we create a record with your contact information. We may then add information that we collect, including information that you may give us during registration, to that record.

We will treat this information with the highest standards of confidentiality and privacy. Personal information will only be used for the purposes for which you have disclosed it to us. ECT will not disclose your personal information to any third party without your express consent unless required to do so by law.

We may use the personal information that you provide when you contact us or register:

- To answer your query or process your application and to provide you with appropriate services which may include sending your further information.
- For the purpose of research and to help us plan and improve our services. We may contact you ourselves or ask outside research agencies to do so on our behalf.
- To contact you to inform you of upcoming products and services.

We may collect the following information:

- name and job title
- contact information including email address
- demographic information such as postcode, preferences and interests
- other information relevant to customer surveys and/or offers.

For more details, please view our full Data Protection Policy and Procedures.

Unsubscribe

We value and respect your privacy, however if you no longer wish to receive communications from ECT and would like to be removed from our contact list, you may unsubscribe at any time.

Please contact us if you have any questions or wish to speak to one of our representatives.

Security

All ECT staff are made aware of the security procedures they must follow when handling personal information. Data is protected from unauthorised access.

Please note that Internet email is never a 100% secure way of communicating. By using it, you agree that you will send any information by email at your own risk.

The website

The ECT website is subject to constant change. Whilst all reasonable efforts are made to ensure that the content of the website is accurate and up-to-date, we reserve the right to alter information at any time.

How we use cookies

A cookie is a small file which asks permission to be placed on your computer's hard drive. Once you agree, the file is added and the cookie helps analyse web traffic or lets you know when you visit a particular website. Cookies allow web applications to respond to you as an individual. The web application can tailor its operations to your needs, likes and dislikes by gathering and remembering information about your preferences.

We use traffic log cookies to identify which pages are being used. This helps us analyse data about webpage traffic and improve our website in order to tailor it to customer needs. We only use this information for statistical analysis purposes and then the data is removed from the system.

Overall, cookies help us provide you with a better website, by enabling us to monitor which pages you find useful and which you do not. A cookie in no way gives us access to your computer or any information about you, other than the data you choose to share with us.

You can choose to accept or decline cookies. Most web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. This may prevent you from taking full advantage of the website.

Disclaimer of Liability for Information on the ECT website

The information provided on the ECT website is intended for personal and/or educational purposes only.

We reserve the right to discontinue or alter courses without notice and to impose limitations on registrations in any course. We also reserve the right to alter course fees without notice. Any changes shall take effect from the date of publication on the website.

Third-Party Site

While we will take all reasonable precautions to make sure that other organisations that we deal with have good security practices, we are not responsible for the privacy practices and website content of those organisations whose websites may be linked to our service.

Terms and conditions of use

Whilst you are welcome to browse this website, in doing so you acknowledge that all text, data, images, audio, video and other material on the site or such material is protected by copyright held by ECT or used by the ECT with the permission of the copyright owner. You may download the material displayed on the site for your non-commercial personal use only, provided you agree to abide by these terms and conditions.

You may not otherwise reproduce, distribute, modify, transmit, reuse or adapt the material contained in this site without the prior written permission of ECT.

Your access and use of the site are subject to the following terms and conditions:

- By accessing and browsing this website, you accept without limitation those terms and conditions.
- Material contained on this website is protected by copyright held by ECT.
- Your use and browsing of this website are at your own risk. We are not liable for any direct, indirect, inconsequential, consequential loss, special, punitive or other damages whatsoever arising out of your access to and use of this website.
- The trademarks, logos, and service marks displayed on this website are trademarks of ECT.